Warts on the Boiler

i decided to boil some water - and noticed a wart on the boiler - upon the wart there was a boil my god!
a boil on the wart on the boiler.

i decided to water the boiler or should i abort the wall, or - pass the boil to Walter before i boil the water?

or bail out the water from the boiler i bought her to boil the wart in the boiler?

or should i buy oil
to oil the wart
on the boil on the wall of the boiler.

there was oil on the ball that i bought her so i threw the ball at the boiler now there's oil on the wart on the boil on the wall of the boiler i bought to boil water.

be free to fart

If you can fart and give a laugh it cuts the drudge of work by half but if your wont is gloom and doom then get a life,
we're only human.

shakespeare's words

As Shakespeare once said,
privately,
it is what it is yet it is not what it is.
that is not the answer to everything but it is something.

One day

It has been said too often
To only take one day at a time.
Too easy - try taking two!

A Ditty 20/01/2018

When he was up, he was up
And when he was down
He was down.
When he was up he would smile
And when he was down
He would scowl
And I realised after a while
It wasn't a man
'Twas an owl!

The Glazier

The glazier was a transvestite
His brassiere was far too tight

A thought occurred, thank God for that,
Like all his glass, his breasts were flat!

One day I saw his breasts had bulged
A breast implant he had indulged
Now all the tradies at him were perving
For like his breasts, his glass was curving!

Fruity Fruit

The Month of May or (one-eyed in the month of May.)

It was on the month of May
Not in the month, but on the month,
The very day,
of the month of May
'Twas on the month of May.
But what number is this month?
Is it after fourth or fifth?
Is it more or less, or in between?
Does it truly exist?
Does this month come monthly
Or on a different day that's been?
Or is it just: pick any day
Any day you'd like to say
'Twill be the month of May
'Twill be Any day you like 'twill be
'Twill be the month of May.

What's Crap?

An original poem by Sondel Guggenhorn from Iceboliviaska in the northern hemisphere, but being icebound, both to and fro, Sondel is often found south of the equator, but not very often, pro quid distance and all, to be exact.

Anything's worth writing down
If it's original.
Even if it's original crap
It's original.
So it's worth writing
Crap
Just to be original!

Drivel and Dribble

Mr Drivel and Mr Dribble were two old blokes in a nursing home. Mr Drivel could hold a conversation, in fact would more often lead a conversation along lines as boring as a fart in a cane chair. Mr Dribble didn't say much, but drooled a bit, just to make up for his lack of conversation.

"Is 'No, I haven't'

"No, it isn't"

Isle of Wight 4 August 2024

Sometimes.

Sometimes I write like Ogden Nash
Sometimes like Rudyard Kipling
Sometimes my words are a mish-mash
Sometimes they are quite rippling.

However, a poem by Verkov Fahrt.

This is not a joke
It's just not funny.
And if that's a joke
I'll give back your munny.
That's not a joke.

Dire beatings.

Took the windscreen
And left

Of your own,
And I don't have one either.

The Unhappy Wanderer 16/3/25

I wandered lonely as a cloud
It grew into a thunderhead
The lightning flashed with thunder loud
And I was soaked from toe to head
I trudged the puddled path to home
Pissed off - I swore from A to Z
I also swore never more to roam
As I drank hot milk and went back to bed.

My sphincter freely parted
For that moment when I farted!
